

A garden birthday party

Here are some photos from my great-grandpa's birthday party last Sunday. He is ninety years old now!

The party was outside, in our garden. This is my dad – he is putting up balloons.

This is me, in the blue skirt. I am giving a present to my great-grandpa. My grandma is looking at us and smiling.

Great-grandpa is carrying all his gifts at once. He looks really happy with his family.

Here, everyone is taking the food and talking. You can see my grandma and grandpa, as well as my aunt and uncle. They are hungry.

We are all sitting at the table for lunch. Grown-ups are drinking champagne and children are drinking apple juice.

And this is my grand-grandpa with his cake. My mum is closing his eyes, so it can be a surprise. They are all singing. I am not in the photo – I am taking it with my dad’s camera.

Answer the questions.

- What is your favourite party? Birthday, New Year, Halloween, or some other?
- When is the party?
- Who comes to your party?
- What do you eat and drink?
- Do you play any games? If yes, which ones? If no, how do you have fun?
- Do you listen to any music?
- Have you got any photos of the party? Can you speak about them?
